

Indian Materialism – Teaching, and Covering it all in Dewey Mannerisms

By Shomit Sirohi

Introduction

So many obverse laws,
made up in Buddhist
systems – which means to go opposite to the actual law – law is all are doing well, some not – now the obverse – all are depressed and most are more depressed and this then is poverty
which is dominant which criss-crosses with forms of tennis matches which reflect the process more concretely than say daily statistics – like cricket

commentary as well.

I. Laws of Teaching

One can teach philosophy, or history
even journalism.

II. Dewey Mannerisms

Be more experimental – cover it in laws, and resistance to laws, but make up stuff as well.
